Jennifer Sosa, of StitchinJenny, will take us on her sewing journey down the yellow brick road.

Jennifer, a business owner and independent educator, is SEW excited to bring you a refreshing time of inspiration as she shares highlights of her sewing journey, told in a way only she can. Among a sprinkling of childhood anecdotes, a few heartwarming tales and some of her favorite sewing tips, enjoy taking a deeper look into her theories about why she turned out the way she did.

We'll munch(kin) on a feast of hot Italian dishes as we enjoy Jennifer's presentation.

Bring cash or a check so you can go behind the curtain of our Emerald City Stash Sale to find treasures of fabric and notions and more. Oh my!

ASG members and non-members are welcome. Bring a friend, or three. We'll have door prizes and a drawing.

JENNIFER SOSA
aka StitchinJenny

Business Owner – Independent Educator

Jennifer Sosa's passion is not only to find and follow her dreams but, to empower and help others to do the same.

Inspired by her grandmothers and her great-grandmother, Jennifer's personal motto is, "If you can dream it, you can make it!" She loves to design, sew, machine embroider, and use her serger to make all manner of lovely things.

She also LOVES to teach.

Jennifer began her small business, StitchinJenny, in 2008 when she decided to share her passion for all things sewing via private lessons and group classes at various Sewing Shops, Craft Shops, and Studios in and around the Houston area.

Since then, she's taught countless children, teens, adults, and seniors everything from machine operation basics to a wide array of projects such as clothing, home decor, crafting, quilting, and etc., etc., etc.

She is excited about her recently launched website StitchinJenny.com, her own little online place to share tips and techniques through a growing library of free video tutorials and also a mixed assortment of classes and projects for purchase. It's also where you can find out about her upcoming group classes and/or reach her if you're interested in private lessons.
